

2004 Season Wrap-Up

After going eight seasons since reaching the NCAA Division II playoffs, the Cal Poly Pomona women's volleyball team finally put that streak to rest in a memorable 2004 season. The journey to the postseason was like a rollercoaster ride that bottomed out early, quickly zoomed forward, dipped a bit near the midseason point and then headed with some steam toward the finish.

When it was over, the Broncos had an impressive third-place finish in the rugged California Collegiate Athletic Association behind only national powers UC San Diego and Cal State San Bernardino. Cal Poly Pomona earned the No. 7 seed in the Pacific Region and, although the Broncos fell in a well-played first-round match to No. 2 seed Cal State San Bernardino, a statement had been made.

The Broncos were back among the elite of the Pacific Region. The Broncos compiled an 18-12 record in 2004 and swept rivals Cal State L.A. and Cal State Bakersfield in the same year for the first time since 1985. The Broncos now have 57 wins over the past three seasons, which is the most since 1992-94.

Cal Poly Pomona, as you would expect, was well represented on postseason honor teams. Kellie Francis earned All-Pacific Region honors from the American Volleyball Coaches Association for the first time in her career after a breakthrough season. She led the team with 439 kills.

Allison Anderson, who earned AVCA All-America honorable mention as a sophomore in 2003, received first-team All-California Collegiate Athletic Association honors last season. Anderson was second on the team with 405 kills and tied for the team lead in blocks with 105. Francis and Christina Gordon both earned second-team All-CCAA honors, giving the Broncos three all-conference players for the third straight season.

Junior Emily Kennedy had another outstanding season and led the team with 1,121 assists, which moved her to second on the all-time Cal Poly Pomona career list. She has 3,765 assists and is just 248 behind Trang Nguyen's career mark of 4,013. She also led the team with 44 service aces.

The Broncos also got solid seasons from newcomers Antoinette Kathol and Kiting Kolar. Kathol shared the team lead in blocks with 105 and also had 133 kills. Kolar was the team's starting libero and led the Broncos with 364 digs. Junior Breezie Jordan also played a key role on the team and had 223 digs and 25 service aces.

Cal Poly Pomona opened the season on a high note, taking three of four matches in the Alaska Fairbanks Tournament, including a pair of five-game victories over the host Nanooks. The Broncos rallied from an 0-2 deficit in the season opener and stunned Alaska Fairbanks, 28-30, 27-30, 30-26, 30-26, 15-10 and then beat the Nanooks in the final game of the tourney, 23-30, 33-31, 30-28, 28-30, 15-7.

The Broncos, though, struggled after their return home and lost four of their next five matches, including three of four contests in their Holiday Inn Select Invitational. Cal Poly Pomona lost three consecutive five-game matches, snapped the swoon with a five-game victory over Western New Mexico, but then fell in three games to Chaminade.

With a 4-5 record entering CCAA action, the Broncos turned their season around in a hurry, sweeping road matches at Cal State L.A. and Cal State Bakersfield. The Broncos rallied to beat the Golden Eagles in four games, 26-30, 33-31, 30-26, 30-21 and then came back the next night to outlast Cal State Bakersfield, 30-19, 26-30, 30-28, 16-30, 15-13 in Bakersfield.

Those wins started a seven-match winning streak that also included a non-conference sweep of Division III power La Verne. The Broncos were 6-0 in CCAA play and had their best start in conference play in the program's history. The seven-match winning streak was the longest since 1997.

Cal Poly Pomona, though, dropped a pair of showdowns in Darlene May Gym to a pair of squads ranked in the top five in the nation – Cal State San Bernardino and UC San Diego. The Broncos then lost a third straight match, on the road at Cal State Dominguez Hills, to slip to 11-8.

The Broncos snapped the losing streak with a win at Cal State Monterey Bay, but lost the following night to Sonoma State and entered a key stretch of four home games with a 12-9 record.

Cal Poly Pomona, in fact, took advantage of a favorable late-season schedule that saw the Broncos play six of their final eight matches at home. The Broncos won all six of those home contests, including big four-game victories over Cal State Bakersfield and Cal State L.A. that gave Cal Poly Pomona a sweep of both rivals in the same season for the first time since 1985.

The Broncos also avenged their early-season loss to Cal State Dominguez Hills and beat former CCAA foe Grand Canyon in Darlene May Gym to wrap up the regular season.

The reward for the Broncos was a No. 7 seed in the Pacific Region and a first-round playoff match against No. 2 seed Cal State San Bernardino. Although the Broncos fell in three games, it was a competitive match and Cal Poly Pomona nearly turned things around with a late rally in the second game that fell short.
