

Finance Society

Newsletter

April 18 2006

Tuesday: Executive Board Meeting

Thursday : Finance Society Social & Career Day

Last week the Finance Society invited Sheree Summers and David Craig to come speak to our group in preparation of career day on April 20th.

Sheree Summers gave advice on how one should formulate a resume. She also discussed the importance of having a five second introduction for employers at the Career Fair. This five second introduction is meant to help “break the ice” and help start a conversation.

Term of the Week

After Hours Trading

Once reserved for institutional investors, but now individuals may also trade after hours. Participation by market makers and electronic communication networks (ECCS) is voluntary and, as a result, this kind of trading may offer less liquidity than that done during normal hours of trading. A suggestion is that If you are trading in pre-market or after-hours trading, you should always use a limit order.

The Finance Society Website

We are finally making progress with the development of our website. Although currently under construction some content is accessible. We would like to thank Garret Haefele our webmaster for his commitment to the development of the website.

www.csupomona.edu/~finance\_society