Understand key tax issues of today's global business environment

Through rapidly expanding webs of e-commerce, even simple business transactions can span the globe. Companies can easily become ensnared in the tangle of taxes imposed by the many governments involved in cross-border transactions. To maintain a competitive advantage in this rapidly changing, fluid environment, tax advisors, managers, and entrepreneurs will need to have a thorough understanding of the state and local tax implications on key transactions.

Written by a team of CPAs, professors, and tax lawyers with over 100 years of combined experience, State and Local Taxation: Principles and Planning helps students understand important tax issues of today's global business environment. The authors draw upon numerous real-life examples to identify and explain the fundamental principles of state and local taxation and how to incorporate these principles into strategic business planning.

The stunning advances made in telecommunications, capital mobility, and distribution channels have not only greatly increased the number of transactions and ventures subject to multiple taxation, but have also made it easier, for those who know where to look, to plan around such taxes. A complete understanding of the role of state and local taxes in a business setting, and the ability to recognize tax hazards and tax savings, will give students an edge. State and Local Taxation: Principles and Planning gives students the tools they need to hone that edge.

About the Authors

John E. Karayan, JD, PhD is a tax attorney with a "Big 8" CPA firm background. He retired as a senior executive of a high-tech firm which operated in all 50 states and over 30 countries to become a full-time university professor, but has remained active outside of academia as an expert witness on accounting and taxation in complex business litigation and as a consultant to entrepreneurs.

Sanjay Gupta, PhD, CPA is the Director of the Master's of Taxation Program at Arizona State University, where he teaches State and Local Taxation and is a Professor of Accounting. A CPA with a law degree, he has consulted for the "Big 4" and national CPA firms and has published extensively in leading journals. Among his many awards are being named the 1993-94 Price Waterhouse Fellow in Taxation.

Charles Swenson, PhD, CPA is Professor of Taxation at the University of Southern California. His professional experience includes service as a tax consultant at PricewaterhouseCoopers. Winner of several American Taxation Association Awards, Professor Swenson is one of the most published tax scholars in the U.S.

Joseph W. Neff, JD is a tax partner with PricewaterhouseCoopers. His expertise in tax planning can be summed up by his current position with the firm: the U.S. National Partner in Charge of State and Local Tax Practice.
