Frayn Farce 'Noises Off' Featured On Stage at Cal Poly Pomona

POMONA, Calif. — October 31, 2008— The laughs won't be just from what's happening onstage, but offstage as well in Cal Poly Pomona's production of "Noises Off" by Michael Frayn. Acting and directing professor C. Julian White will direct the farce, which will be staged Nov. 7-16 in the University Theatre.

An acclaimed playwright and novelist, Frayn wrote "Noises Off" in 1982. The Tony-nominated play highlights the misadventures of a fumbling cast from dress rehearsal to the disastrous last night of their dreadful sex comedy, "Nothing On."

"Noises Off" will be staged Nov. 7-8 and 13-15 at 8 p.m. The last performance will be at 2 p.m. on Nov. 16. Reservations are required for the special group matinee performance on Nov. 12 at 10 a.m.

Tickets are $15 general admission and $10 for students, seniors, faculty and staff.
