

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Robert Noyce Scholarship Program for Math and Science Teachers

Application Form 2006-2007 for STEM Undergraduates
Due: 28 April 2007

The Robert Noyce Scholarship Program for Math and Science Teachers aims to encourage talented Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) majors and professionals who might otherwise not have considered the teaching profession, particularly people from underrepresented groups. Each Noyce Scholar can receive up to two years of scholarships of up to $75,000 to $10,000 per year. Noyce Scholars will be selected according to academic achievement, with consideration to financial need. Final selection will also be based on the goal of a diverse group of participants in the program. Preference will be given to those seeking a single subject credential in Chemistry, Geology, Mathematics (not Foundational-Level Mathematics Credential), and Physics. Scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis.

Minimum Requirements:

- Have declared a major in a STEM discipline;
- Have at most 96 units and two years to complete bachelor's degree;
- Have an overall GPA and a GPA in math, science, and technology courses no lower than 2.75, preferably with one of the GPAs above 3.0;
- Be a US citizen, national, or permanent resident alien

Noyce Scholars are required to obtain their teaching credential at Cal Poly Pomona, attend monthly seminars, meet quarterly with the single subject advisor, participate in electronic dialogs, and teach in a high-need district for a period of two years, excluding year(s) as an Intern, for every year of financial support from the Noyce Scholarship Program. There are minimum GPA requirements for continued funding for Noyce Scholars.

To apply:

Submit the attached application form along with your three letters of recommendation that support your experience with youth and your academic achievements, and a personal essay.
